To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is to confirm that Karthik Ravi was employed at Trustyou Family AB as a Full Stack Developer Intern from August 2025 to May 2026.

During his time with us, Karthik played a pivotal role in our engineering team and was instrumental in launching our initial MVP. He successfully spearheaded our Generative AI development, specifically architecting and building our core AI insights pipeline from the ground up using Google Cloud Platform (GCP) and the Gemini API. This system was vital to our product, securely translating raw mobile activity into intelligent, actionable insights for parents.

Furthermore, Karthik developed robust backend infrastructure using TypeScript. This included engineering comprehensive user profile management systems, secure media handling for profile pictures, and cloud-native data collection architectures.

Karthik consistently demonstrated strong technical proficiency, autonomy, and a deep understanding of system architecture. He is a highly capable software engineer who takes ownership of complex problems from idea to implementation. We are highly satisfied with his contributions and warmly recommend him for future roles in software engineering, backend development, and AI integration.
